

LAKE

Infor d/EPM

Better insight for informed decisions

We are all working in an increasingly competitive and challenging world. Managers and business leaders everywhere are under pressure to make business decisions more quickly than ever before. And to get them right.

Infor d/EPM is an innovative enterprise performance management platform that delivers the clearest possible view of past, present and future performance to support your decision making process and help drive business performance.

With Infor d/EPM you'll have greater insight to make faster and better informed decisions right across your enterprise.

Gain unprecedented insight into your business

Unique Capabilities

Infor d/EPM is a powerful in-memory analytics platform that provides instant roll-up and presentation of business data. It gives managers crystal clear visualisations of past, current, and future performance under different scenarios and harnesses their collective insight and knowledge by offering them the opportunity to input, influence and drive the future direction of the business.

With in-context business intelligence capabilities built in, the benefits go far beyond just easy access to data. Infor d/EPM empowers you to better manage performance, risk, and the impact of decisions right across your organisation.

Comprehensive Analytic Insights

Descriptive analytics

What happened?

Get a real-time view of performance across your business. Unlock siloes of data across your enterprise applications to deliver a single source of truth to help you understand definitively what happened and where you are right now.

Diagnostic analytics

Why did it happen?

Transform information into actionable insights and make data a competitive advantage with deep analytics and business intelligence to help you understand what factors are driving and impeding performance.

Predictive analytics

What will happen?

Plan your business using predictive analytics and powerful forecasting capabilities to help you evaluate potential future outcomes to drive strategic, tactical, and operational decisions.

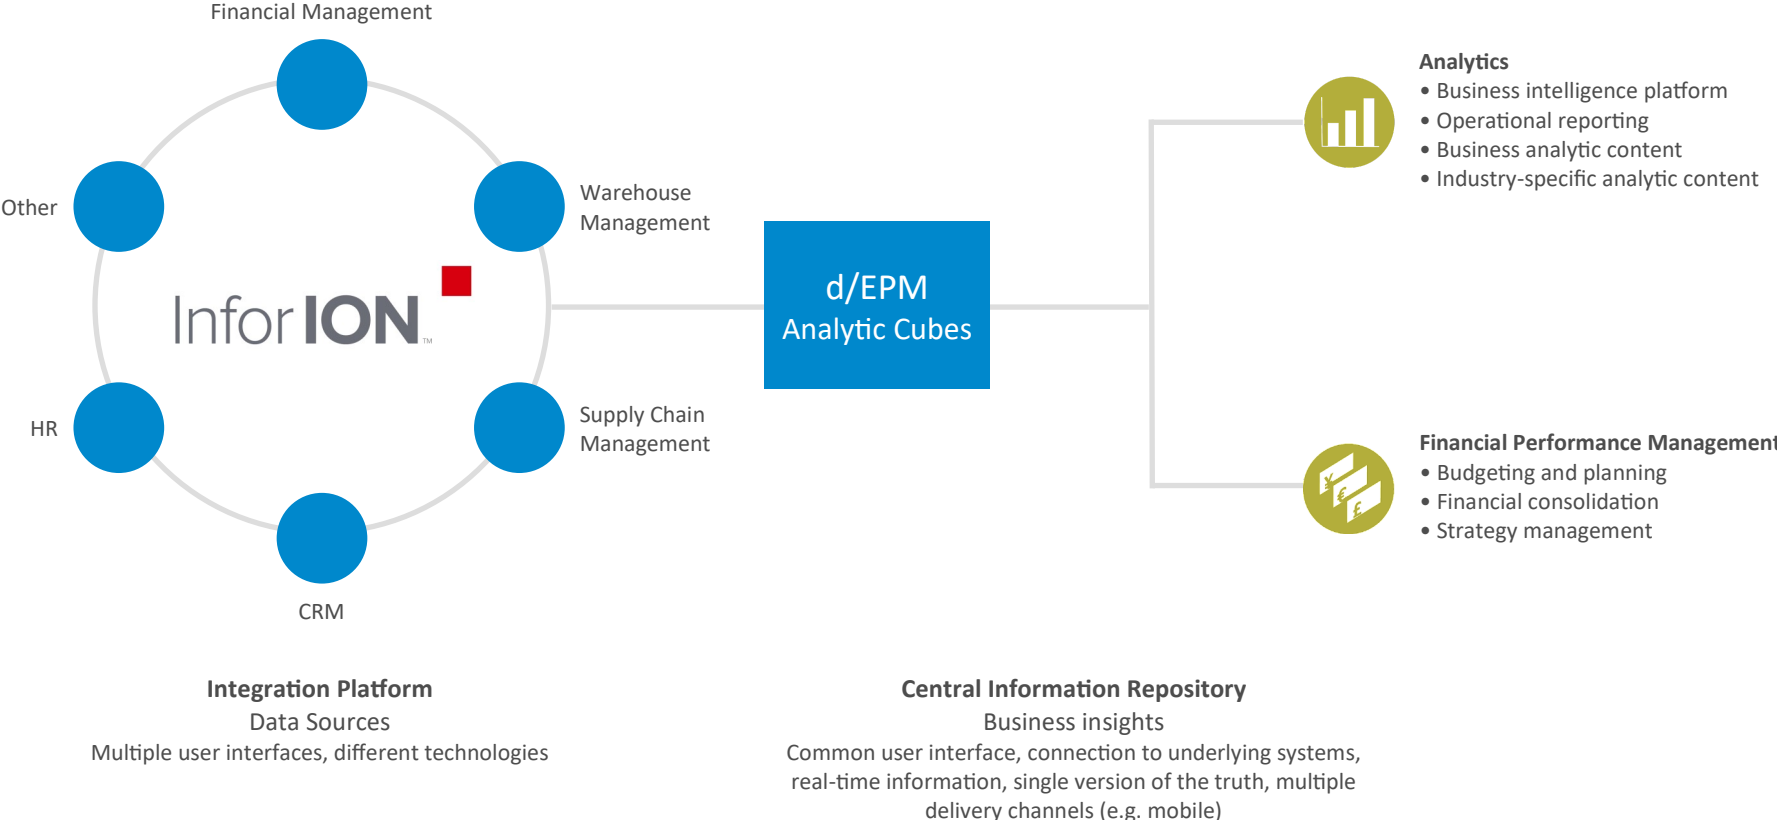

Prescriptive analytics

What of the future?

Analyse and compare potential future outcomes based on different business scenarios, and guide managers to set a course for the future with clarity and confidence.

How Infor d/EPM works

Infor d/EPM collects real-time data from your source applications and translates it into business insights delivered through a fully integrated solution suite with a common user interface. And that means you get a single version of the truth from a suite that is pre-built to take advantage of innovative technologies like mobility and in-memory computing.

A stunning user experience

Give your team access to business and financial performance data anytime, anywhere, and empower your staff to make better decisions. With Infor d/EPM, you can provide one central source of truth and a seamless connection between your transaction systems and your business intelligence - all with an engaging, innovative user experience.

Better insights means more informed decisions

When you implement an integrated suite of applications for planning and analysis, connect it to your underlying systems and databases, and present users with engaging and informative content, the result is unprecedented insight to drive the business forward.

Decisions in context

Make decisions in the context of your business plans, collaborate across teams, and end your reliance on old unfriendly siloed reports.

Insights on the go

Leverage the flexibility and accessibility of mobile technologies to give users insight into your business, right now, wherever they happen to be working.

Pre-packaged content

Implement one of our accelerator frameworks, such as our QuickStart d/EPM Framework for SunSystems to get up and running and delivering value fast!

Better investment decisions

Understand the impact of your plans before developing budgets to drive better investment decisions across your business.

Single source of truth

Have a single source of truth for all your business insights to better align strategy and execution.

Built-in collaboration

Collaborate naturally in the planning process to bring everyone's plans together in a holistic view of the enterprise.

LAKE

Achieve optimal business performance

Dealing with complexity is a reality in business today. Yesterday's strategies and practices won't always provide a clear path for solving today's challenges. If your organisation is like most, you want to build a strong competitive advantage. Innovative enterprise performance management software can help.

Infor d/EPM delivers greater insight, so you can make more informed decisions across your enterprise. When you have the agile performance management solution you need, your business is ready to thrive.

LAKE Financial Systems

0113 273 7788

info@lake.co.uk

www.lake.co.uk/depm

